Corporate Member of the Year Award

Techline Alaska

The Corporate Member of the Year Award honors a company whose participation and support go above and beyond, strengthening AMA's membership, advancing its mission, and demonstrating the value of an engaged mining community.

The Alaska Miners Association is proud to recognize Techline Alaska with the 2026 Corporate Member of the Year Award for its consistent support of AMA and its commitment to bringing Alaska's mining community together.

Techline's contributions reach from local branch gatherings to international industry outreach. By hosting the Fairbanks Branch's annual summer barbecue, the company provides a welcoming place for members to reconnect and strengthen relationships. Its sponsorship of Alaska Night at AME Roundup in Vancouver also helped AMA share Alaska's mining story with the broader investment community.

A familiar participant in AMA's Anchorage and Fairbanks conventions, Techline supports the trade show and the connections it creates among miners, contractors, and suppliers. Its Rock Fight sponsorship adds another memorable opportunity for members to gather, share stories, and celebrate their enthusiasm for Alaska mining.

Its support helps AMA create opportunities for members to learn from one another and build relationships across the industry.

As a supplier of drilling tools, equipment, technical resources, and training, Techline brings practical expertise to AMA's membership. The company's willingness to contribute its time, resources, and support across so many activities demonstrates the strength of an engaged corporate member. Congratulations to the Techline Alaska team, and thank you for helping make AMA's work possible.
