2019 AMA Core Shack Exhibit

Tuesday and Wednesday, November 5-6, 2019

Call for Exhibitors

Industry professionals interested in displaying core and results from mineral exploration and development projects are invited to present at the Core Shack Exhibit at the Fall 2019 AMA Convention in Anchorage.

The Core Shack provides a showcase for participants of projects that are generating meaningful new results, or have not participated in the AMA core shack before, to show off their core and discuss results with interested attendees. In addition, reactivated mines, extensions, or satellite to existing operations are encouraged participants, particularly where new results are generating interest in future development potential of the project. Hand samples, maps, charts, and other technical information are also welcome.

The Core Shack event will run for two days from Tuesday November 5th, to Wednesday, November 6th, on the first floor in the main exhibition hall. Participation is heavily incentivized through the offer of a complimentary exhibit space and one complimentary conference registration for the lead exhibitor. Please support your Alaska Miners Association by participating in and helping us grow the Core Shack.

If you are interested in presenting at the Core Shack please provide contact names, affiliation, contact information, and the name of the deposit or prospect to Varina Zinno (vzinno@millrockresources.com) and Traci Hartz (thartz@millrockresources.com) by October 10th. Further details included abstract specifications will be distributed to confirmed exhibitors. The abstract deadline is Monday October 14, 2019; project and company name for the booth sign are also due on that date.

Sincerely,

Varina Zinno, M.Sc.
